DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

a. The claims do not recite enough structure to be considered a pry bar consistent with what is being disclosed by the invention recited in the specification. The pry bar being disclosed in the specification has at least a sharp tip and a crevice and other different bar has at least a sharp tip and at least two crevices. The handles are disclosed as different but these are only disclosed as being different in length and nothing else. So the different length handles must be recited and not just different handles which can be anything. The device cannot be claimed broader than the scope of invention. The applicant has a system of specific parts that function a specific way. The claims could possibly be read on things with different materials and shapes. Applicant can only claimed what is envisioned by the specification. A patent claim is invalid because the a device with this little structure is not supported by an enabling disclosure.(Also see for ref. MPEP 2164).

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-10 may be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, set forth in this Office action. Applicant needs to clearly claim the invention being disclosed in the specification.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Whelan, Wise, and Witter disclosed an invention.
